De-coding the next Generation

KEY NOTE
SPEAKER
Michael
McQueen

If you have you ever found yourself confused, frustrated or even offended by the attitudes and expectations of today's younger generation, you are not alone.

Employers, leaders and educators often describe this group as being technology addicted, impatient, unfocussed and disrespectful.

Having conducted arguably the world's most extensive research into the defining attitudes and values of Gen Y, Michael McQueen is ideally placed to help audiences de-code this group.

“A fascinating insight into the modern generation of students.
